Kills Pain

Sloan's Liniment

Price 25¢ 50¢ & $1.00

TO KILL THE DANDRUFF GERM.

Is the Only Possible Way of Having An Effective Cure.

If you see a woman or a man with luxuriant glossy hair, you may be sure neither has dandruff to amount to anything. In nearly every case where women and men have thin brittle hair, they owe it to dandruff. There are hundreds of preparations that "claim" to cure dandruff, but not one but Newbro's Herpicide tells you that dandruff is the result of a germ burrowing into the scalp, and that permanent cure of dandruff and its consequent falling and baldness, can only be had by killing the germ; and there is no other preparation that will destroy that germ but Newbro's Herpicide. "Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

MISS ROOSEVELT'S GIFTS.

Miss Roosevelt probably received a greater variety of wedding presents than were ever before given to an American bride. From every part of the world, from every class of society, the remembrances came. They number considerably over a thousand, and probably represent in monetary value nearly a quarter of a million dollars. A large room was set apart on the second floor of the White House for the reception of the presents, and this was filled to overflowing. The Roosevelts have many wealthy connections, and the Longworths are allied to families of large fortune in the Middle West. Magnificent gifts were sent by the Cornelius Vanderbilts, the John Jacob Astors, the Millses, the Goelets and the Bordens. It is said that at Tiffany's alone more than $100,000 worth of jewelry and bric a-brac was ordered for the wedding.

Practically all of the rulers of Europe paid their respects in handsome and valuable tokens.

The Empress Dowager of China, who entertained Miss Roosevelt in Pekin, cabled the Chinese minister in Washington that she had sent a present, and hoped that it would reach Washington in time for the wedding. This gift will doubtless be one of the most treasured in the collection on account of the tender associations surrounding Miss Roosevelt's trip to the Chinese capital. The President of France sent one of the finest pieces of Gobelin tapestry that could be obtained. It is 5 by 8 feet in dimension, represents the allegorical figure, "Manuscript," and cost approximately $25,000. The republic of Cuba appropriated $25,000 for a beautiful pearl collar. Emperor William's present was a costly and artistically wrought bracelet. Two gifts are said to have come from Great Britain's royal family, one from King Edward and one from Prince Louis of Battenberg. Prince Henry of Prussia, grateful for his reception in this country and for his cordial entertainment at the White House, sent a token no less magnificent than that contributed by his imperial brother. Presents were received also from the Czar, the Mikado and the Pope. The gift of the King of Italy was a table of fine mosaic work depicting Italian scenes.

The Japanese Emperor's present was a repousse silver bowl, carvings, embroideries and other specimens of native handiwork; that of the Dowager Empress of China was a carved dowery chest containing several bolts of finest Chinese silk. King Alphonso, of Spain, sent an antique piece of jewelry.

The members of the ambassadorial and ministerial corps in Washington sent individual gifts. Nearly all are wealthy men, and as Miss Roosevelt was always popular with the foreigners, not to mention the high regard in which they hold her father, they simply outdid themselves in gift buying. The Ohio delegation in Congress presented their colleague and his bride with a handsome silver loving cup. The gift from the party which accompanied Miss Roosevelt to the Philippines was a necklace of aqua-marine stones, with a large aqua-marine pendant surrounded by diamonds. Mr. Longworth's New York colleagues in Congress sent a table set of favrile glass from Tiffany's.

The gift sent by Mrs. Longworth, mother of the bridegroom, was a magnificent diamond necklace.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt's present was a large emerald pendant surrounded with diamonds. Mr. Longworth gave his bride a strand of three-quarter caret diamonds set close together in gold mountings.

Besides the official gift of the Cuban government, Minister Quesada and his wife sent a personal remembrance in the form of a set of eight pieces of silver, lined with gold, and handsomely decorated with repousse work. A shield of orchids was the gift of the Persian minister and Madam Morteza. It is said to be one of the most elaborate ever designed by a Washington florist.

Vice President and Mrs. Fairbanks sent a set of silver-mounted glasses. General Porter, former ambassador to France, gave a comb, side comb and belt of antique gold and amethyst. Ambassador and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid sent a collar of blue-white diamonds.

Innumerable cases of choice wine, scores of barrels of farm produce from the "rural districts," boxes of fruit from California and wagon loads of trinkets of almost every description were sent by admirers of the bride the country over.

One of the prettiest of the gifts is a gorgeous butterfly fan from a Japanese princess. On the tag which indicated the destination of the package had been scrawled in transit, "Glad he ain't no duke." Mrs. Longworth will probably cherish the tag as much as the fan.

Other presents were as follows:

The German Ambassador and Baroness Speck von Sternburg, a set of Dresden plates, each having a special design, with monogram of the bride; the Austrian Ambassador and Madam von Henglemueller, a brooch of diamonds and sapphires; the Secretary of State and Mrs. Root, a turquoise chain; Senator and Mrs. Knox, a jewel case; Mr. and Mrs. John R. McLean, of Cincinnati, a Swiss watch studded with diamonds and sapphires; the Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Leslie M. Shaw, a Sevres chocolate set; George B. Cox, republican ex-boss of Cincinnati, handsome cut glass water pitcher; Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Bonaparte, carved silver fruit dish; Minister Grip, of Sweden, large Parisian vase; Vocomte de Chambrun, hand painted fan of Louis XIV period; the Brazilian ambassador and Madam Nabuci, flowers; the House committee on foreign affairs, of which Mr. Longworth is a member, a large silver loving cup; Mrs. L. Z. Leiter, pair of antique silver vases; Senator Beveridge, gold-mounted riding crop; Secretary of War and Mrs. Taft, diamond locket; former Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Morton, dinner set of Limoges ware; the Supreme Court, flowers; Consul General to London and Mrs. Wynne, diamond ring; Senator and Mrs. Spooner, pointlace fan with ivory sticks; Rough Riders' Association silver service; Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, collar of pearls and diamonds.

Vision of Heaven.

After lying in a trance apparently as one dead for more than six weeks, Mrs. S. A. Griffin, wife of S. A. Griffin, of Boulder, Col., returned to consciousness just long enough to tell of a wonderful vision of heaven that came to her as she slept.

"I have seen heaven," she said. "I have crossed the borderland between the seen and the unseen world. The sights that I have beheld have been wonderful. I have seen and have moved with the spirits of those who were once on earth. Oh, the beauties of the place that I have seen! Why any person after a vision such as mine should wish to return to this world of sin and sorrow is more than I can understand. The pearly gates and the streets paved with gold I believe to be literally true. On my journey I stood on a plain so desolate, so immense now I cannot bear to contemplate it. Phantoms flocked all about me, all silent, all restless, but all journeying as was I across that dreary plain. At last I seemed to be entering a building of the most imposing dimensions. I cannot describe it. It was too beautiful for words. I entered a great hall. Six judges sat there presided over by a seventh, who was superior to them all, and a benign, kindly faced being. He looked upon me with tender compassion and I knew that I had seen the Ruler of the Universe."

Shot the Flagman.

Because the trainmen whistled "Hello, Honey" and waved their hands at her while passing her father's cabin, near Nemours, W. Va., 12-year-old Dora Taylor shot and killed Norfolk and Western Railway Flagman Winfield Compton, a married man, of Bluefield, on Tuesday. The bullet came from the Taylor house, and the whole family was arrested and carried to Bramwell. William Taylor, aged 17, accused Dora of firing the shot, and Dora asserted William committed the deed. Wednesday night the girl broke down and confessed. She said that it had been her habit, as well as that of her older sister, to shoot at trainmen who tried to flirt with them. The girls declare they fired four shots at an engineer who waved at them last week. The three children will probably be sent to the Reform School for the time limit.

Alexandria Gazette AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

SATURDAY EVENING. FEB. 17, 1906.

By unanimous vote, after what is said to have been a thorough investigation, the State Senate committee on finance and banks last night reported with favorable recommendation four bills to permit the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad, limited by certain specified conditions, to surrender the old charter, under which it is now being operated, secure articles of incorporation bringing it within the provisions of the general laws of the State, and, should it at any time see fit so to do, merge with the Washington Southern at the northern end, forming one continuous line between Richmond and the national capital. It is claimed that during the investigation it was shown that the State would gain and not lose by the change, and also "that the railway company itself is perhaps giving up more than it will get back in return, that it is by no means clamoring for opportunity to do this, and that the movement was initiated in fact by the official representatives of the Commonwealth themselves, who have for five years, with a view to bringing money into the public treasury, been urging the advisability of a new charter." This may or may not be so, but it goes without saying that the railroads are not "merging" for the benefit of the State and before these four bills are passed they should be looked into with a magnifying glass. The State has been well protected under the old charter of the road; why change it?

Miss Alice Roosevelt has now become Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the nuptial ceremony which has made the young people one having been performed in the East Room of the White House at noon today in the presence of the heads of the government of the United States and representatives of the civilized countries of the earth. Every detail had been anticipated and the programme was carried out to perfection. The event had been the main topic of conversation in the society world for some time. It has now passed into history as an incident in connection with the occupancy of the White House by Theodore Roosevelt. No wedding that has heretofore taken place in the United States has been so generally advertised, nor has any heretofore solemnized excited more interest. The affection which culminated in today's ceremony was born in the antipodes and blossomed and flourished during a ten-thousand mile voyage across the broad Pacific, the courtship extending from the Orient to the Occident. Before Mr. and Mrs. Longworth today stretch only the flowery paths of life and thousands wish them bon voyage.

The army and navy will not hold joint maneuvers this summer, according to a statement just issued by the War Department. Since such a plan would necessitate enormous expense in transporting troops, and as Congress has not made provision for this expenditure, the scheme has been abandonded. This will be gratifying news to the taxpayers, though if the money is not spent this way it will be in some other—and so we go.

It is anticipated that under the stimulating influences of government subsidy ($5,000,000 a year) many an old tub will be converted into a fast-going ocean steamer. How this scheme which has passed the Senate will fare in the House remains to be seen; but it is believed that the big stick will be again employed against all recalcitrants.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Feb. 17.

Delegates from forty-two States will meet in this city Monday to consider the so-called divorce evil. It will be one of the most effective meetings, so its promoters say, ever held to consider this subject and already the van guard is here laying the foundations for what it is believed are important steps in the crusade against divorce. South Carolina is the only State that has absolutely refused to send a delegation Henry B. F. Macfarland, president of the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, will welcome the convention which will meet on the tenth floor of the New Willard. A committee of the interchurch congress on marriage and divorce will report what it has accomplished by its organization.

Statehood and pure food legislation will engage the attention of the Senate in open session next week. Senator Dick on Monday will continue his speech in favor of the two State bill. Later in the week it is expected that his colleague, Senator Foraker, will talk in opposition to it. All of Tuesday will be devoted to the Hepburn pure food bill. The probabilities are that the bill will be amended in several important particulars and will then be allowed to pass. Important work will be done in committees. In the House the principal feature will be the debate on and passage of the army appropriation bill as the privileged measure of the week. A report, upon which favorable action would speedily be taken, is expected from the committee on interstate and foreign commerce on the Tillman resolution looking to an investigation of the bituminous coal roads and the charges of discrimination pending against them. The committee will meet on Monday to take up the question. Other matters on the calendar which will, if reached, cause breezy discussion, are the Williams resolution calling on the Attorney General to furnish information relative to criminal prosecutions in the Northern Securities case, and the Sulzer resolution, requesting information from the Secretary of the Treasury relative to the sale of the New York customs house to the New York National City Bank.

Senator Tillman, of South Carolina, who was threatened with pneumonia and unable to attend committee meetings at the Senate yesterday, is much better today. During the afternoon he expects to leave his hotel for a drive.

News of the Day.

A bill has been introduced in the New York legislature making betting within race tracks a felony.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Horace A. Taylor has resigned. He will be succeeded by John H. Edwards, of Ohio.

A son has been born to Prince Chun, brother of the Emperor of China. The child may be designated as successor to the throne.

William Murphy, a New York horseshoer, 27 years old, fired two bullets from a revolver at his forehead, but the bone deflected and flattened the bullets.

Secretary Bonaparte and Rear Admiral Sands yesterday attended a conference at the White House, at which Naval Academy problems were considered.

The Countess de Castellane, in her bill of complaint against the count, asks for a decree for complete material separation without a dissoluion of the bonds of matrimony.

All the Reading Company's collieries are being worked to their full capacity and the company expects to have enough coal stocked by April 1st to last until September in the event of a strike.

The Senate committee has agreed to the rate bill amendments to increase the Interstate Commerce Commission to nine members and to make the initial railway line liable to the shipper for damages.

Thomas M. Neale, of Cumberland, Md., has written a letter to Representative Gillespie, alleging that there is a merger of the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania systems to control shipments of coal.

The subcommittee of the United Mine Workers appointed to draw up the percise demands of the employes for submission to a similar committee from the operators in New York is not expected to complete its work for a week.

Virginia News.

Mrs. Nannie Manning Stone, wife of Dr. Robert W. Stone, of Winchester, died at her home yesterday aged 37 years.

Benjamin Grinbert, postmaster at Oceana, has been arrested, charged with taking an aged negro's pension check for $24 out of the mail. He says the negro owed him the money.

City Judge William M. Atkinson has set March 22 as the day for holding the special local-option election for Winchester, which was requested by representatives of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League.

President George W. Stevens, of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, placed an order for 40 engines with the American Locomotive Company yesterday, and stipulated that they should be built at the Richmond branch.

The bill which has passed the House of Delegates known as the two-cent mileage bill, is not intended to apply to passenger rates generally in Virginia, but to thousand-mile tickets between stations in the State of Virginia.

Five thousand dollars damage was done to the pattern shop of the Richmond Locomotive Works last night by fire of unknown origin. The entire frame work of the building was burned away, the burning mass falling in on the machinery, which was practically ruined.

Fire discovered early yesterday morning by a negro stable-boy in the new livery stables of C. L. Grizzard, at Courtland, wiped out a considerable amount of property in that town, with damages amounting to $18,000. Among the buildings destroyed was the Courtland Hotel.

Former Governor A. J. Montague left Richmond last night for New York, where tonight he will deliver the annual address before the Alumni Association of the New York City University. Mr. Montague will remain in the metropolis for a few days, and on February 22d, he will appear in Toledo, Ohio, to speak along with Governor Joseph Folk, of Missouri, and other men of national reputation.

Commonwealth's attorney L. O. Wendenburg, of Henrico county, is preparing an appeal from the decision of Judge C. E. Nicol in the Richmond annexation case. The officers of Henrico are stunned at the decision, which takes from the county one-third of its revenues. The appeal will be based on the unconstitutionality of the annexation act and the lack of necessity for taking in so much territory.

At ten o'clock this morning Judge C. E. Nicol convened the Henrico Circuit Court and entered his opinion on annexation, printed in Thursday's Gazette, as an order of the court. There was no material change in the order from the opinion. Commonwealth's Attorney L. O. Wendenburg said yesterday that he would take the matter to the highest court, and would there make a fight against the constitutionality of the law that provides for the extension of city limits.

Elijah Marlowe, a farmer at Castleman's Ferry, Clarke county, lies in a critical condition at his home as the result of an attempt to end his life. Sitting in his chair yesterday, Mr. Marlowe suddenly pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired a bullet into his left breast. With blood pouring from the wound, he fell from the chair and in a short time lapsed into unconsciousness. For several years he had been in poor health and at times was very despondent. He brooded over his condition until his mind became deranged. His daughter, Miss Lilly Marlowe, who was in the room at the time, saw her father with the pistol pointed at his breast, but before she reached his chair the shot had been fired.

MISS ROOSEVELT'S WEDDING.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Miss Alice Roosevelt, elder daughter of the President of the United States, was married to Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Ohio, at noon today in the East Room of the White House.

The most distinguished statesmen of the land, lights of literature, lions of society and captains of industry—men and women from every walk of life and from almost every clime—came to attend the most brilliant wedding the capital has ever seen.

Thirty-seven foreign embassadors and ministers were in attendance, to extend the felicitations of their sovereigns and peoples. Cabinet officers, Senators, the bridegroom's colleagues in the House, and the intimate personal friends of the Roosevelt and Longworth families were included among the fortunate thousand invited to witness the marriage Rivaling the splendid floral decorations of the famous state apartment were the gold-encrusted uniforms of the military aids to say nothing of the vari-colored toilets of the women guests. The diplomats appeared in citizens clothes and frock coats. The White House never looked more beautiful than it did today in its gala dress of bloom and verdure. For more than a week florists and decorators had been moving tropical plants into place and weaving garlands for the great event. The result as revealed when the doors were opened this morning amply repaid all the care and labor bestowed on the task. The color scheme was white and green, ferns and lilies predominating.

The entire White House was decorated for the event, most of the plants and flowers coming from the government propagating gardens. Each room had a different scheme of adornment, the East Room, of course, having received the particular attention of the decorators. The semi-circular platform upon which the ceremony was performed was carpeted in green and contained a group of palms fringed at the base with japonicas, Easter lilies forming the background. Overhead was an artistic garlanding of smilax and asparagus, with Bride roses intertwined. The large vases on the four mantels were filled with Easter lilies and fern fronds. On the two tables at the north and south end of the room were white rhododendrons in jardinieres.

The vases in the Green Room were filled with Enchantress (light pink) carnations and fern fronds. Those in the Blue Room contained Easter lilies and white roses, with ferns and asparagus, while in the windows were placed palms and flowering plants. Red roses and carnations predominated in the Red Room. In the State dining room, where the wedding breakfast was served, American Beauties and Bride roses formed the principal decoration. The niches in the main corridor of the mansion were filled with potted plants, while the two large jardineres contained handsome purple and pink rhododendrons in full flower.

Not to be disregarded among the "decorative" effects at the wedding was the staff of military aides to the President, with all the glitter of their special full dress uniforms and clanking swords. Among the army aides were three sons of distinginshed generals, Capt. Fitzugh Lee and Lieutenants U. S. Grant and Philip H. Sheridan.

The prearranged musical programme was as follows: Grand March, "Tannhauser" (Wagner); Overture, "Jubilee" (Von Weber); Ballet Music and Wedding Procession from "Feramors" (Rubinstein); Polonaise "Military" (Chopin); waltz, "The Debutante" (Santelmann); Serenade from Symphony "Rural Wedding" (Goldmark); Flourette (Herbert); Hungarian Rhapsodie No. 2 (Liszt); March, "Bride Elect," (Sousa).

Bishop Satterlee, of the Episcopal diocese of Washington, performed the ceremony. President Roosevelt led his daughter to the altar and gave her to the groom. Miss Alice had no bridesmaids. The bridegroom was attended by Thomas Nelson Perkins, of Boston. A few moments before twelve Miss Roosevelt left her boudoir. With her father she descended by the elevator at the west end of the mansion between the state dining-room and the breakfast room, while the Marine Band, stationed in the marble lobby, struck up the wedding march from Tannhauser. Miss Roosevelt's right hand rested on her father's arm, and in her left she carried a gorgeous bouquet of white orchids and lilies. Her long bridal veil of the filmiest texture was fastened at the head with a spray of orange blosoms. The President wore the conventional frock coat with striped trousers, but the unconventional "lay down" collar.

At the elevator door they were met by the President's military aides and the ushers, who led the march down the corridor to the East Room, where the guests had already assembled. The ceremony was performed on a low platform before the large window overlooking the Treasury building, the ushers having arranged themselves on either side. The bridegroom's family was represented by the Vicomte Charles de Chambrun, brother of the Comte Adelbert de Chambrun, who married Mr. Longsworth's younger sister; Buckner A. Wallingford, of Cincinnati, who married his eldest sister, and Larz Anderson, of Washington, grandson of the first Nicholas Longworth. The other ushers were Theodore Roosevelt, Quincy A. Shaw, jr., of Boston; Frederick Winthrop, of New York; Francis R. Bangs, of Boston, and Guy Norman, of Boston, all of them college mates of the groom. The wedding party all wore frock coats, striped trousers and white gloves, and were decorated with boutonnieres of white gardenias. Members of the two families were stationed near the platform in a space set apart by ropes covered with white ribbon. Behind them were the representatives of the foreign governments. Next in the order of official precedence were placed the members of the Cabinet and their wives, the justices of the Supreme Court and their wives, the former members of the Cabinet who are now in the Senate, the Ohio delegation in Congress, the New York delegation in Congress, the members of the party that accompanied Miss Roosevelt to the Orient last summer, and the personal friends of the young couple.

Mr. Longworth, with his best man, had entered the room a moment before, and met his future wife and her father at the dais. The music ceased and in reverent tones the bishop began the prescribed address, "Dearly beloved, we are gathered together here in the sight of God." Responding to the words, "Who giveth this woman to be married to this man?" President Roosevelt handed his daughter to the bridegroom, and stepped from the platform to Mrs. Roosevelt's side. In firm, clear voice Mr. Longworth then repeated the vow, "I, Nicholas, take thee, Alice, to be my wedded wife." The promise given in return, and sealed with a plain gold band placed on the finger of the bride, with right hands clasped they heard the solemn words of the white-robed bishop, "Those whom God hath joined——," then, kneeling, received the benediction.

When they arose, the first to greet the new Mrs. Longworth was her father, followed by the members of the two families. Still standing on the platform, the bride and groom received the rest of the guests, remaining until all had offered their congratulations and best wishes.

Breafast was then served in the spacious State dining-room by a famous New York caterer. It was a buffet repast, for lack of space forbade any attempt at seating the guests, but this informal arrangement added not a little to its pleasure. Judges of the Supreme Court, Ambassadors, Senators, military men, and plain citizens rubbed elbows in true democratic fashion while nibbling sandwiches or drinking the health of the bride. The President was in splendid spirits and had a laugh, or a jolly word for everyone. His good humor was infectious, and the great company quickly changed from a stiff, conventional assemblage to a throng of right good friends.

Throughout the breakfast the Marine band played classical and popular airs, the delicate tones of the magnificent gold piano in the East Room from time to time added gentler melody to the feast of sound.

The wedding, the reception and the breakfast consumed but little more than two hours, and soon afterwards the preparations were made for the wedding trip, but at 3:45 o'clock the bride and groom had not left the White House.

It is reported that they will go to Mr. J. R. McLean's country home near this city, this evening, after which they will take a trip south.

The palace car Republic has been ordered to report at Alexandria tomorrow morning and it is said that it will be on this car that the trip south will be made.

This trip to the Southland will not be of long duration, for the groom will soon return to his desk in Congress. After adjournment, however, the Longworths will make an extended journey to Europe, and in London, Paris, Berlin, and on the Riviera will enjoy to the full their deferred wedding tour. On their return they will be "at home" in Washington at the mansion, 831 18th street, the property of Mrs. Longworth, mother of the groom. Between Congressional sessions, and after Mr. Longworth quits public life, they will live at "Rookwood," the home of the Longworth family, in Cincinnati. Mrs. Longworth, the elder, will make her home with her son and new daughter, both at the capital and in Ohio.

Mr. Longworth spent the morning at his home dressing and chatting with his best man and his ushers. In company with his best man, Mr. Perkins, he left his home at 10:30 for the White House. His valet followed with a suit case in hand. As they emerged from the door, the bridegroom faced a battery of cameras. "Here Perk, I want you in this," he said. Both posed for a moment, the shutterss clicked, and they then proceeded to the White House in an electric hansom. The bridal bouquet in a large box, about the size of a steamer trunk, accompanied Mr. Longworth and his best man to the White House.

President Roosevelt went to his office at 9:30 this morning and spent about an hour with secretary Loeb going over necessary correspondence, then returned to the main portion of the White House.

Following is the official description of Miss Roosevelt's wedding gown, prepared by her social secretary.

"White satin, made princess: waist trimmed with point lace; elbow sleeves and no collar; court train of silver brocade; tulle veil, caught with orange blossoms."

The dress worn by Mrs. Roosevelt is officially described thus:

"Heavy brocade, cream colored, blue and brown figures, with golden threads; made princess, with yoke of brown chiffon, embroidered in blue and gold; skirt has panels of embroidered chiffon and long train."

Miss Alice fell heiress to her father's famous luck in the weather furnished for her wedding. The low temperature which had prevailed for the last few days, gave way to the balminess of spring over night, and the sun rose over the capital to smile down from a sky of Alice blue. The last touches had been put upon the decorations late last night and little remained for the florists to do this morning. The Marine Band was in their place in the corridor some time before eleven o'clock. At eleven o'clock a bustling dozen of "society editresses" was admitted. At 11:15 the gates were thrown open. For ten or fifteen minutes before that hour, however, a line of carriages had been forming on Executive Avenue and in that vicinity. The higher diplomats and the personal friends and relatives of the bridal party were admitted at the south entrance of the grounds and gathered in the state dining room. The majority of the guests entered at the eastern terrace. There was speculation this morning as to the plans of Mr. and Mrs. Longworth for their flight after the wedding. They had kept the secret well. There were various suggestions as to the route they might take. As a result, the newspaper men were in the air, and were making arrangements to cover all possible avenues of escape.

There was a change of plan regarding the costumes of the members of the diplomatic corps invited to the wedding. At first they determined to wear their full court regalia, but at the last minute, Ambassador Heugelmueller, of Austria-Hungary, dean of the corps, vetoed this proposition, and issued a ukase barring gold braid. As a consequence the guests were much disappointed. In their frock coats and striped trousers, they looked much the same as the ordinary men folks. It was noted that the good bishop came out strong on the word "obey" in the ceremony, and that the bride answered in resolute tones, "I will." An incident that threatened to mar the solemnity of the occasion occurred shortly before the marriage service began. Mrs. Wayne Mac Veagh, wife of the former attorney general of the United States, and who was among the guests in the East Room, fainted. She was carried to a retiring room by Ensign Andrews, one of the President's naval aides, but recovered in time to witness the ceremony.

Following is a time schedule of the wedding.

12:04 Mrs. Roosevelt with Theodore jr., followed by Kermet, Ethel, Archie and Quentin. Bishop Satterlee and Lieut. Andrews came down the main stairway and entered the East Room.

At 12:05 Mr. Longworth and best man entered the East Room.

12:04 Bride on her father's arm appeared at the west end of the corridor, and began the march to the altar preceded by the ushers.

12:08 Bishop Satterlee began the service.

12:14 Bride and groom pronounced man and wife, followed by benediction.

12:16 Reception to guests began.

Following the pronouncement of the benediction by Bishop Satterlee, the new Mrs. Longworth was greeted with kisses by her father and mother. The other relatives of the two families then presented their congratulations and best wishes, after which the guests at large formed in line and paid their respects. Mr. and Mrs. Longworth shook hands with all, and then repaired to the breakfast room, where with a choice coterie of retatives and friends, including the ushers, they listened to toasts to their life-long happiness. The other guests were served in the state dining room.

The bride was photographed in her wedding finery this afternoon after most of the guests had left. More than a hundred applications had been made for this privilege by photographers from near and far.

THE LEGISLATURE.

SENATE.

Senator Walker introduced a bill the purpose of which is to prevent a northern syndicate from getting possession of valuable fisheries in the Chesapeake. The bill provides that no person not a resident of Virginia may own a share of stock in any fishing company. A similar bill was passed at a former session, but on account of certain defects the present amended bill is offered.

Senator Machen introduced a bill providing for a jail penalty as well as a fine for bookmakers who take bets on horses outside of the State. The bill provides that the fine shall be from $100 to $500 and the imprisonment from 30 to 90 days. A similar bill was passed in 1896, but was declared unconstitutional because of a defect in its title. The purpose of the present bill is to restore the provisions of the bill with proper title. The bill was stubbornly fought before. It was particularly aimed at the gambling resorts on the Virginia side of the Potomac, opposite Washington city.

The Senate passed the bill creating an epileptic hospital on the site given for that purpose by the late S. R. Murkland, on the Amherst Palisades, opposite Lynchburg, on the James river. The epileptic colony will be a branch of the Western State Hospital, at Staunton, and the State will care for its maintenance by increasing the appropriation to that institution. The bill only needs the Governor's signature to become a law.

Senator Sale offered a bill making it unlawful for any insurance company to insure the life of any child under the age of twelve years.

Bills were introduced,

To prohibit any person not a resident of this State becoming a stockholder in certain corporations chartered under the laws of this State.

To provide for the appointment of a Secretary of Virginia military records.

After many days of long discussions advocates of annexation or consolidation in its various and sometimes conflicting forms, reached entire accord yesterday morning, and agreed upon an elaborate substitute for the Anderson bill, which was thereupon reported by the committee on counties, cities and towns and placed upon the Senate calendar.

HOUSE.

A bill was introduced in the House by Mr. Ouldt to allow treasurers of cities and towns 10 years in which to collect delinquent tax bills. The law now allows only one year.

Mr Byrd offered a bill whereby the children of J. Samuel McCue may not have to pay the costs of hanging their father. The bill gives the Governor power to remit costs, as well as penalties.

A bill to establish a banking department and to create the office of bank commissioner was introduced by Mr Puller. The salary is fixed at $3,600, and $8,000 is allowed for assistants and expenses. The bill is in accord with Governor Swanson's recommendations made in his message, and is favorably regarded by many of the older legislators.

Mr. Gaines introduced a joint resolution to investigate the conditions of the menhaden fisheries in Virginia. Alarming reports of the diminishing quantities of edible fish in Virginia waters induced him to offer the measure.

The finance committee of the House reported the general appropriation bill. It will be subjected to a great many changes in the House. The bill carries appropriations approximately $400,000 in excess of the present measure, but the greater sum of this is in the two items of primary schools and the sinking fund. The present bill carries $3,673,939, while there is an approximate increase in the new one for the first year of $461,271, and for the second year of $477,270.

Bills were introduced:

Requiring railroads to furnish better switching facilities to shippers. The measure is designed particularly to help persons or corporations operating industrial, mining, manufacturing, agricultural, or commercial enterprises.

To prohibit soliciting of votes too near poll boxes and to compel election judges, under pain of a fine, to enforce the law.

Bills were introduced:

To protect persons receiving express from paying on prepaid packages and prescribing a penalty of $100 for double collections on the part of the express company.

To authorize the Corporation Commission to tax water companies.

Joint resolution amending the Constitution so as to render commissioners of the revenue eligible to succeed themselves.

Senator John W. Daniel was a visitor at the Capitol and held an informal levee in the Senate chamber and later in the House.

The Senator was invited by a resolution to meet the General Assembly in the hall of the House. The members of the Senate escorted Senator Daniel to the hall, where he was given an enthusiastic reception. Speaker Cardwell vacated the chair for 20 minutes. Senator Daniel made a brief speech, congratulating the lawmakers upon the fine appearance of their "new home." "I did not come here to make a speech," he said, "nor to discuss our troubles. You and I may wear the same button. We have our troubles. Don't tell me about your troubles—I have troubles of my own."

Governor Swanson entered the hall before the Senator began speaking and occupied a chair at the clerk's desk.

The Legislature.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Feb. 17.—The House unanimously passed the resolution to investigate the causes of dismissal of Mr. Lanier from the Corporation Commission and it was communicated to the Senate and referred to the committee for courts. It will be reported and passed Monday. The investigation will be under way by the middle of next week. Mr. Byrd is almost certain to be chairman of the investigating committee.

Warship Manoeuvres.

London, Feb. 17.—The greatest warship manoeuvres ever held begins today when the British channel and Atlantic fleets will assemble off Tagos, Africa, for a fortnight's war game in the South Atlantic. The fleets include 31 battleships, 16 armored cruisers, beside a number of smaller craft, and are on the watch for the entire navy of another country. The value of the warships taking part in the manoeuvres approximates $350,000,000, and are under, the supreme command of Admiral Wilson, assisted by eight flag officers, including Prince Louis of Battenburg. The chief problem is the protection of the merchant marine, and British steamship lines are co-operating with the fleet. The warships act upon the supposition that the enemy's fast cruisers are attempting to sweep British commerce off the sea, and how to prevent this will be the problem for solution. This is the first time that the merchant marine has played a part in naval manoeuvres. The Admiralty considers that the lessons to be learned from the manoeuvres are so vital that extraordinary precautions have been taken to keep everything secret. Several high officers of the British army wished to attend the manoeuvres but the Admiralty refused their request.

Firemen Injured by Explosion.

Boston, Feb. 17.—By a hot air explosion in the six-story granite building at No. 90 North street this morning, eighteen members of the Boston fire department, including Chief Mullen, District Chiefs Garrity, McDonough and Byron, were injured, several sustaining injuries that necessitated their removal to the relief station. The firemen were blown from ladders from which they were fighting the flames and hurled down stairways by terrific hot air explosions that followed each other in rapid succession. The blaze was confined to the lower stories of the building, but the explosion gutted the structure and blew every window out. The loss is estimated at about 25,000. Just beside the burning building is the Salvation Army barracks on Hanover street. About one hundred and fifty men had applied there for shelter during the night, and as the explosion occurred, they became panic stricken and rushed to the streets in their night clothing.

Official Note from France.

Algeciras, Spain, Feb. 17.—The French representatives to the International Conference which is in session here discussing the Moroccan situation today handed to the German officials an official note outlining the French programme for the settlement of pending questions, including France's intentions in relation to policing the country. It is believed that it will be at least eight days before the German reply will be returned to this note. The conference today discussed section 21 of the proposed treaty relating to customs.

Linievitch Superseded.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 17.—General Grodekoff, the new commander-in-chief of the Russian armies in Manchuria, wired the Czar from Lochagoon, on Feb. 16: "I have taken over the command of the troops now in the East." Wiring from the same place and on the same date General Linievitch former commander-in-chief, reported to the Czar: "In accordance with the imperial rescript, I have handed over the command to General Grodekoff."

Less Confident Feeling

New York, Feb. 17.—The confident feeling expressed on all sides that the miners and operators would be able to adjust their differences and that there would be no strike in the anthracite region is not so plainly appare today, and intimations are not lacking that the struggle which both sides have made preparations for would be precipated by a refusal of the operators to grant the demands.

Firearms for China.

Berkeley, Cal., Feb 17.—Professor John Fryer head of the department of oriental languages at the State University, has announced that from a copy of a recent Chinese newspaper he learned the startling news that the Chinese government has ordered a million small arms and a hundred cannon from German Manufacturers on account of the threatened war with foreign power.

McCall's Condition Grave.

Lakewood, N J., Feb. 17.—The condition of John A. McCall, former president of the New York Life Insurance Company, who is ill at the Laurel House suffering from a complication of diseases, is very grave this morning. Members of his family who are with him state that, in their opinion, the end is very near.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Feb. 17.—Heavy speculative liquidation caused declines all around the room from the opening and the low prices established reached many stop orders, causing increased general selling. The supply of stocks came almost wholly from commission houses handling large speculative accounts. Prices were forced down in the first hour to the lowest range reached on this movement. The bank statement was a favorable surprise, showing a loss in surplus reserve of only $153,000. Its publication was followed by a sudden and material rally.

A terrific blast, set off this morning in the Pennsylvania tunnel at Boyden and East avenues, Long Island City, N. Y., loosened huge pieces of rock that fell upon three men, causing probably fatal injuries to two of them.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constant failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Outlet of Main Sewer.

Within the next week or ten days a mud digging machine will be put to work excavating a channel throught the mud flats on the District side of the river, which will be used as the outlet for the big main sewer from Washington. The outlet will be located at a point on the river shore about 200 yards above the wharf of the naval powder magazine and about a mile and a half north of this city and on the opposite side of the river. It is to prevent the location of the sewer outlet at this point that the people of this city have a bill in Congress requiring the District authorities to carry the sewage to a point several miles below this city, it being claimed that to allow the sewage of the largest portion of Washington to empty in the river at this point would have a detrimental effect on the health of the people of this city. The District authorities contend that this city will not be harmed in the least by the sewage, as no solid matter is to be allowed to escape into the river. The sewage which will empty into the Potomac at the naval powder magazine will be carried across the Eastern branch from the big pumping station now in process of erection on the branch in big pipes, and will run between the Government Hospital for the Insane and the river to the point where it will be pumped into the Potomac The digging machine which will be employed in digging the sewer outlet channel is now being made ready at this city for service.

The Curtin Murder.

The city authorities continue at work on the Curtin murder mystery, and they are gradually weaving a web which, it is believed, will soon cover the parties who murdered, mutilated and placed the unfortunate man's remains in the Fayette alley dock The publication yesterday of a suspicious find in a marsh near the Maryland shore has added interest to the affair, and while nothing positive may be adduced by the discovery that clothes had been burned on the spot, to many the act is significant. Pauline Miller, who conducts a resort on north Lee street and who is now in jail, is still believed to know the details concerning Curtin's death. It was shown by the evidence at the recent examination that a police whistle was blown from her house. She denied that such had been done and said she had no whistle on her premises. One was found, however, when the officers searched her house. It is now believed that she sounded it on the night of the murder. The coroner's jury will be called together soon, probably next week, at which time it is believed more tangible evidence will be secured. The authorities believe they are close upon the heels of those supposed to have been parties to the murder. They are being kept under close espionage and it is expected that those conducting the investigation will soon be in a position to make a decided movement.

Completion of Seminary Improvements.

The extension of the chancel of the Chapel of the Episcopal Seminary, near this city, which has been referred to in these columns as the gift of Bishop Potter, of New York, was completed by the final work on the setting up of the furniture today and the first service in the new choir and chancel will take place at eleven o'clock tomorrow with a special sermon by the Dean, Dr. Angus Crawford. The chapel will now have all the appointments of a collegiate church with the nave, containing sittings for the Episcopal High School and the general congregation, the choir with settings for the students and five stalls for the professors, and the chancel with the holy table and seats for the bishops and officiating clergy at all parts of the service appropriate to the sanctuary. The extension has added very much to the dignity and beauty of the interior of the Chapel. The chancel arch is very fine and the stalls for the clergy and seats for the students of quartered oak, are of excellent workmanship and elegant design. The carving is all done by hand. Every one who has seen the present interior of the Chapel has expressed much delight in the success of the improvements as carried out under the plans of the architects, Messrs. Wood, Donne and Deming, of Washington. The contract for the building was awarded to Messrs. Fissell and Wagner, also of Washington, and their work is of excellent quality. The stalls and students' sittings were made at the Manitowoc Works, Wisconsin, and reflect great credit on that establishment. The furnishings of the chancel are the old ones in walnut, which have many associations, from long use in the Chapel. There are several memorials among the new furnishings. Three of the stalls are given by Bishop Potter, in memory of his old professors, Drs. Packard, Sparrow and May. It is expected that the other two stalls will be memorials of Bishops Johns and Whittle. The students seats on the organ side are the gift of Mrs. George A. Small, of Baltimore, in memory of Miss Ellen Jackson, of Fredericksburg. The lectern which will be in by Easter is to be presented as a memorial of the late Dr. Rumney, of Germantown, Pa., an alumnus of the Seminary, and the pulpit will be erected in memory of the Rev. Anson B. Hard, an alumnus of the Seminary of the class of 1829, by several of his descendants. It is also expected to be in place by Easter The new Bible for the lectern is the gift of Bishop Potter, and the prayer books and hymnals for the stalls were presented by Mr George C. Thomas, of Philadelphia, while a prayer book and hymnal has been presented by Mr. Thomas Whittaker, of New York, for the chancel. All these books are beautifully bound in red Turkey, morocco with appropriate inscriptions. The new chancel window given by a friend of the Seminary will not be in place until some time next fall. Nearly all the windows in the old part of the chapel have been newly filled with amber-tinted cathedral glass. Mr. George C. Thomas has lately presented to the Seminary a rare old silhouette of Bishop Moore with a card containing his autograph formerly owned by Deaconess Harriet Randolph Parkhill, of Orlando, Florida.

Hunt Club Ball.

The annual ball of the Cameron Hunt Club was held at McBurney's Hall last night and, as anticipated, was the most brilliant event of the season The hall was brilliantly lighted and beautifully decorated, red being the predominating color, while the handsome club flag, bearing the club's name, partly covered the north wall. The gowns of the women were unusually handsome and, as for the women themselves, it can only be said that seldom had a more beautiful group ever assembled. The men in their conventional black, with here and there a red coat, were a jolly lot of fellows and the music just made all dance whether they wished to or not. The hall was a veritable bower of beauty and every moment of the evening was one of enjoyment. Punch was handed at intervals and at 1 o'clock a delicious supper was served, Rammel Bros. being the caterers. The chaperones were Mrs. Courtland H. Smith, Mrs. W. B. Daingerfield, Mrs. Sidney Douglas, Mrs. Louis Scott and Mrs. Elridge Jordan. The favors, consisting of whips, horns, fans and confetti, were beautiful and were distributed in profusion. by Mrs. Daingerfield and Mrs Scott. The german was led by Mr. Harry Beverly and Miss Mittie Herbert, the second part by Mr. Stuart Hanckel and Miss Lackland.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Courtland Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. David Rust, Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Snowden, Mrs. W. B Daingerfield, Mrs. Louis Scott, Mrs. Uhler, Mrs. Sidney Douglas, Mrs. Lester Bresee, Miss Bessie Herbert, Miss Terry Dulany, Miss Carroll, Miss Fair, Miss Unduch, Misses Douglas, Misses Barrett, Miss Eleanor French, Miss Danenhower, Miss Louise Whyte, Miss Violet Niles, Miss Wise, Miss Jenkins, Miss Mittie Herbert, Miss Etta Portner, Miss Lackland; Miss Landon Hicks, Miss Peyton, Mr. Victor Wilson, Mr. Ralph Ludler, Mr. Carrol Ashby, Mr. William Meredith, Mr. Robert Knox, Mr. Beale Boomer, Mr. Thomas Cochran, Mr. Philip Knox, Mr. Henry Parker, Mr. Cooper Dawson, Dr. Richard Gibson, Mr. Arthur Herbert, Mr. Paul Portner, Mr. Alvin Portner, Mr. Richard Chichester, Mr. Harry Beverly, Mr. Dion Kerr, Mr. Stewart Hanckel, Dr. Paul Evans, Mr. Charles Hooff, Mr. James Douglas, Captain Beertie, Mr. Mahlon Janney, Mr. Harrison, Mr. West and many others.

The committee, Mr. Charles Hooff, jr., M. F. H.; Mr. Courtland Smith, Mr. David Dunlap, Mr. David Rust, jr., Mr. Richard Gibson and Mr. Paul Portner, left nothing undone to make the ball the success it was and at its close they all, together with Mrs. Courtland H. Smith, who so charmingly assisted them, received the hearty congratulations of all present.

A palace car of the W., A. & Mt. Vernon Railway left Alexandria for Washington after the dance was over to carry the guests from this city back to their homes.

Killed on a Locomotive.

Joseph Leslie, a locomotive engineer on the Susquehanna division of the Erie Railroad, was found dead at his post yesterday at Wellsburg, N. Y. No damage was done, because of the alertness of the train's crew. Leslie, who was engineer of a fast freight train, reached out of the cab at Corning to catch orders handed to him on a ring when his head struck some projection, and presumably he was instantly killed. Passing through Elmira his lifeless body hung out of the engine cab, and the head striking semaphores and gates, blood being spilled all along the tracks. The towermen at Elmira noticed something wrong from the fact that the freight was then running at the rate of a mile a minute, and they cleared the track ahead. The conductor made his way over the train and set the air brakes. The fireman was not aware of the death of the engineer until Wellsburg was reached, the engine being of the "Mother Hubbard" type.

SATURDAY EVENING, FEB. 17, 1906.

Pat Crowe Acquitted.

It took the jury in the Pat Crowe kidnapping case in Omaha, yesterday afternoon, 29 ballots and 17 hours to bring in a verdict of acquittal, which it did at a late hour. The courtroom was jammed all day with people waiting for the verdict, and as the jury filed into court Crowe trembled.

"We find the defendant not guilty," read the clerk, and the crowd cheered.

Judge Sutton rapped for order and said: "I am very much surprised that the acquittal of a notorious criminal in the courtroom should be received with applause. Clear the room, baliffs."

Crowe was much elated at the result, and stepped forward to thank the jury. He was halted by the command of the judge, who said: "You cannot thank this jury for such a verdict."

As Crowe turned to leave the room an officer stepped up and said: "I arrest you, Pat Crowe, in the name of the law," and he snapped a pair of handcuffs on Crowe's wrists.

Half an hour later Crowe was in a street car, being taken across the river to Council Bluffs, where he is wanted on a charge of holding up and robbing two streets cars last summer. Business men are indignant at the verdict.

The kidnapping of Eddie Cudahy, December 19, 1900, and his release upon payment by his father of $25,000 ransom, created a great sensation, and the search for the kidnappers was stimulated at the time by the offer of a reward of $50,000 by Mr. Cudahy.

Last October Crowe was arrested in Butte, Mont. He was put on trial February 7. There was no evidence positively to identify Crowe as one of the kidnappers.

The New Cough Syrup—the one that acts as a mild cathartic on the bowels—is Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. It expels all cold from the system, cuts the phlegm out of the throat, strengthens the mucous membranes of the bronchial tubes, and relieves croup, whooping cough, etc. Children love it. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co., 401 King street.

A Fatal Penance.

Rose H. Eimer, aged seventeen, a motherless inmate of the Bethany Home, an Episcopal orphanage at Glendale, Ohio, died yesterday afternoon from extensive burns she suffered Thursday evening. The managers of the home refuse to discuss the case, but it was stated that the girl burned her arm doing a self imposed penance and accidentally set fire to her clothing. Lillian Fears, a three-year-old inmate of the home, was suffering from a small cut on the arm. Anxious to do something for the infant, Rose, although she had been forbidden to do so, attempted to readjust the bandages. In doing so she knocked over a kettle of boiling water that scalded the child's arm badly. The girl brooded over the accident. The thought of the suffering of the child caused her great anguish. Of a sensitive and nervous disposition, it is believed that she was seized with the strange idea of burning herself on the arm to do penance. She was seen by other children holding her bare arm over a grate fire in the sitting room, so that the flames touched the bare flesh. Before any one could interfere her clothing caught fire, and she was soon enveloped in flames. The screams of the child brought assistance, but she never rallied from the shock.

The End of The World of troubles that robbed E. H. Wolfe, of Bear Grove, Ia., of all usefulness, came when he began taking Electric Bitters. He writes: "Two years' ago Kidney trouble caused me great suffering, which I would never have survived had I not taken Electric Bitters. They also cured me of General Debility." Sure cure for all Stomach, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Blood diseases, Headache, Dizziness and Weakness or bodily decline. Price 50c. Guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store.

Startling But True.

People the world over were horrified on learning of the burning of a Chicago theater in which nearly six hundred people lost their lives, yet more than five times this number or over 3,000 people died from pneumonia in Chicago during the same year, with scarcely a passing notice. Every one of these cases of pneumonia resulted from a cold and could have been prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. A great many who had every reason to fear pneumonia have warded it off by the prompt use of this remedy. The following is an instance of this sort: "Too much cannot be said in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and especially for colds and influenza. I know that it cured my daughter, Laura, of a severe cold, and I believe saved her life when she was threatened with pneumonia," W. D. WILCOX, Logan, New York. Sold by Gibson & Timberman and W. F. Creighton & Co.

No false pretence has marked the career of Ely's Cream Balm. No idle promises of rewards for cases it will not cure. Being entirely harmless, it is not responsible like the catarrh snuffs and powders, for minds shattered by cocaine. The great positive virtue of Ely's Cream Balm is that it speedily and completely cures nasal catarrh and hay fever. Back of this statement is the testimony of thousands and a reputation of many years' success. All druggists, 50c, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS.

AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhœa. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

Your CHILD and the Croup Danger

The Danger Loses all Its Terrors When You Have This Marvelous Remedy at Your Hand

Any night your little one may waken with the croup. Death clutches tightly on the tender throat. And you—are helpless.

Be prepared. Keep a bottle of Gowan's Pneumonia Cure in your room. A moment's brisk rubbing on the throat and chest, and you have the croup under control. In a few moments the healing liquids have driven the cold out; the child is cured, as suddenly as croup comes.

GOWAN'S PNEUMONIA CURE

is an external, safe, harmless, sure cure. Ask for Gowan's Pneumonia Cure at any drug store. Regular size, $1.00. Croup size, 25c. Sent by mail, if desired. Gowan Medical Co., Durham, N. C.

Read a Father's Letter

"Your remedy is truly a God-send to humanity. We have used it in our family for the past year, and only last night our baby had an attack of croup. We at once applied Gowan's Pneumonia Cure, and in fifteen minutes our child was fast asleep, and this morning is quite well. We do not feel safe without the Cure in the house, and we recommend all people to get it and use it promptly.—J. D. GUNTER, Sandford, N. C."

Children Burned to Death.

Two children were cremated and a third child probably fatally burned Thursday night in a fire which destroyed the farmhouse of Joseph Rodis, three miles from Summit City, Michigan. Mr. Rodis was working in the woods when the fire occurred, and the children's mother was busy in the barn. When she discovered the flames she rushed back to the house and succeeded in rescuing her two-year-old child from the blazing kitchen, terribly burned, but was not able to save the other two children, aged four years and ten months, respectively. The fire is supposed to have been caused by the children playing with matches.
